

By the Lord Deputie and Councell.

C A proclamation to forbid the Subiects of the Realme of Ireland, to haue any Trade or Commerce within any the Dominions of the King of Spaine, or the Arch-duchelle.

HENRY FALKLAND.

Hereas the Kings most excellent Majestie in his Princely Wisdome, and prouidence, foreseeing that the intercourse of trade betweene his Highnes subiects, and the subiects of the King of Spaine, and the Arch-duchelle, within any of their Dominions, cannot but be full of perill and danger in these times, hath forbidden his subiects of England to haue any trade or Commerce within any the Dominions of the King of Spaine, or the Arch-duchelle, as by his Majesties Proclamation bearing Date at Hampton-court, the 24. of December 1625. appeareth.

And Whereas the Lords of his Majesties most Honourable priuie Counsell in England, by their Letters vnto Us dated the 29. day of December last, required Us to cause the like Proclamation to be published in this Realme of Ireland, for the prohibition of the Subiects of this kingdome: Wee doe therefore hereby in his Majesties name straightly charge and commaund, That none of his Majesties Subiects of this his Realme of Ireland shall haue, or vse any intercourse of Trade or Commerce within any of the Dominions of the said King of Spaine, or Arch-duchelle, vpon paine of confiscation of all their Ships wherewith they shall so Trade, and of all the Ordnance, Tackle, Goods, and Marchandises of and in those Ships to his Majesties vse. Which shalbe found and taken within any of his Majesties Ports, or in any of the Ports of the said King of Spaine, or Arch-duchelle, or vpon the maine Seas, or within any Creeke thereof, eyther outward or homeward, bound, vpon any voyage for Trade or Commerce vnto their, or either of their Dominions, and this to continue and be obserued vntill his Majestie declare his pleasure to the contrary.

Given at his Majesties Castle of Dublin the ninth day of January, 1625. In the yeare of our Soueraigne Lord King Charles, of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, the First.
